The State Department this morning received the following unsigned cablegram, dated at Cairo, Egypt: "Two thousand persons of different nationalities assembled in meeting, transmitting to your government the echoes of the sufferings of the Armenians, supplicating, in the name of humanity, that you will interfere energetically to put an end to their sufferings."

The true democrats of the city are highly elated today over the success of Mr. Jas. L. Norris in the democratic primaries held yesterday. Mr. Norris is a Gorman man and believes that the latter would make a strong candidate for the presidency.

Commissioner of Pensions Ware made a tour of inspection through the Pension Office building recently. Entering the room occupied by the special examiners at 4:20 p. m. he observed one of the clerks reading a newspaper during working hours. "Beware of Ware," is the hushed admonition which has passed among the employees of the Pension Bureau frequently during the past week.

The show is to be held at Leesburg on the 8th and 9th of June and Mr. Harper extended the President an invitation. The President said he did not think such a temptation should be placed in front of him, as he would like to attend the best in the world, but he had uniformly declined all invitations and must do so in this instance.

The trial wherein Miss Mary Alker, aged 40, is suing Charles Mueller, a married man, aged 60, for alleged breach of promise to wed, came to an abrupt halt in Philadelphia yesterday. Mrs. Anna Rausenberg, sister of the plaintiff, and one of the latter's witnesses, became so hysterical under cross examination, that the doctors who were called, said it might kill her to be compelled to testify further. Russian Red Cross Fete.

The fete for the benefit of the Russian Red Cross, which was postponed on account of bad weather, was held at the Russian Embassy in Washington yesterday afternoon and evening, and was attended by the entire fashionable world. Through Madame Boukoff, wife of the Russian naval attaché, the Czarina of Russia sent a handsome bookmark, painted by herself, and accompanied by an autograph letter. This treasure was sold at auction and was said to have been purchased by a Russian sympathizer, who gave $5,000 for the souvenir. His identity remains hidden, as the bookmark was bought through an agent. The auction proved very popular, and a group of women remained for hours without their dinner, bidding in Paris hats and feminine fancies at four and five times their market price. Miss Alice Roosevelt purchased a pretty neck piece of tulle, and bid for herself in a characteristic manner. The fund secured by this fete has now reached about $21,000, and the Countess Marguerite Cassini, who planned and managed the affair, is confident of getting $25,000 when all the returns are in.

Today's Telegraphic News

Governor Montague.

Richmond, Va., May 6.—Governor Montague leaves here tonight for Baltimore to address a meeting to be held under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association on Saturday night, the object of which is to throw new life into the work of rejuvenating the fire-stricken city. Gov. Warfield will preside at the meeting.

Advance on Port Arthur.

London, May 6.—The Central News correspondent at St. Petersburg reports that the Japanese have landed at two points in the vicinity of Port Arthur. The first landing was made at Pischewo and the second at Port Adams. The appearance of the Japanese fleet in the Liao-Tung gulf was intended as a feint to cover the real landings. The two places mentioned are on opposite sides of Kwang-Tung peninsula. Pischewo is connected with Port Arthur by the Manchurian Railway, while at Port Adams the railway runs close to the shore. The forces landed are only a few miles apart.

This step of the Japanese forces, taken in conjunction with the hurried departure of Viceroy Alexieff and Grand Duke Doris from Port Arthur, has given rise to a deep seated belief that the Russian stronghold is doomed to fall. Alexieff and the Grand Duke did not wish to become prisoners in Port Arthur and went north to assist in the direction of the future movements of the Russian forces. The landing of the Japanese troops tends to confirm the reports that Port Arthur harbor is blocked. It is known that the Japanese general staff would long since have attempted a landing movement had they been assured that the Russian fleet in the harbor could not get away to harass their movements. Now that the landing is made it would appear that the Russian fleet is locked in, and is no longer a factor worthy of consideration.

London, May 6.—The Chefoo correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company wires that a force of Japanese have landed opposite the Elliott Islands, on the east coast of the Liao-Tung peninsula. The Japanese, he says, discovered during April that this would be a good place for landing operations, as the east coast of the peninsula is guarded only by a comparatively small force.

Constantinople, May 6.—According to the news service which the Mikado has ordered sent to the Sultan, Admiral Togo attended the meeting of the war council at Tokio yesterday. The admiral, according to this source of information, left the Port Arthur fleet aboard a 35-knot torpedo boat, which carried him to Nagasaki, where a special train conveyed him to Tokio. At the meeting of the war council he assured the authorities that the Russian fleet was unable to interfere with a landing on the Liao-Tung peninsula. It was then decided that transports be sent to secure such a landing. Togo immediately returned to the fleet.

London, May 6.—Dispatches received in London, this afternoon, announce that the Japanese have occupied the hills on the road to Feng-Huang-Cheng, Manchuria, without firing a shot.

London, May 6.—A dispatch from Tokio to the Reuter Telegram Company says a report has been received from General Kuroki stating that in the retreat on Sunday a large body of Russians mistook a smaller body of their countrymen for Japanese and attacked them with great fury. One hundred and eighty were killed or wounded.

London, May 6.—The Exchange Telegraph Company's St. Petersburg correspondent wires that a report is current there that 10,000 Japanese have landed twenty-five versts from Port Arthur, and have partly destroyed the telegraph station.

London, May 6.—The Central News has received a dispatch from Tokio stating that General Kuroki has occupied Tang Shang Cheng, midway between Antung and Fen-Huang-Cheng.

Democratic Primary in Washington.

Washington, May 6.—The Hearst ticket was knocked out by a vote of more than two to one at the democratic primaries held in Washington yesterday. Charges of fraud have been made which will be taken to the national committee for settlement by the men who lost. According to the latest reports, the Norris faction will have 45 delegates in the local convention and the Hearst crowd only 21. The Hearst boomers assert that repeating was only the smallest of the crimes perpetrated by the Norris faction. The corrupt use of money, the lawyers, was the real cause of their downfall. During the hottest part of the fight the police seized eleven half barrels of beer that was being dispensed on a vacant lot. Up to a late hour last night the result in the 22d district was in doubt, as the judges and clerks had gotten into a wrangle and did not know how to get out. "But I settled it in short order," said Edward Sefton, chairman of the commission appointed by the democratic national committee to conduct the primaries. "After listening to the judges and clerks scrap a while I said: 'Let me have the ballot box.' They gave me the box. Then I said: 'You fellows get out of the room.' They left and I counted the ballots myself. Then I called them back and announced 'Hearst carried the 22d by 221 to 201.' Mr. Sefton is a Hearst man. At a close stage of the proceedings in one of the districts a company of High School Cadets happened to pass the polling place. The Hearst rovers caught them, gave them men's hats and voted them with neatness and dispatch.

Storm in Texas.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 6.—Two small villages, one in Parker, the other in Southern Shackelford counties, are reported destroyed by a cyclone last night. On account of the wires being down the facts will only be learned when the couriers return. Moreland and Putnam are reported wiped off the earth, and many people killed. Inola, in the Creek nation, was also struck by the fierce tornado, and many people are reported killed. One person is known to have been killed at Moreland and several injured. The cyclone reached this city, but only meagre damage was done. No one was injured.

For Safety

In the delicate process of feeding infants, Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk is unexcelled except by good mother's milk, as it is rendered perfectly sterile in the process of preparation. Lay in a supply for all kinds of expeditions. Avoid unknown brands.

To Investigate Mysterious Deaths.

Rutland, Vt., May 6.—Startling information has been given to the sheriff as the result of which an investigation is in progress which probably will lead to a solution of several mysterious deaths which have occurred in the outskirts of Rutland during the past two or three years. It is now believed that these deaths, which were thought at the time to have been caused by the victims being struck by the trains of the Rutland Railroad, were the result of cold blooded murders at the hands of inmates of a disreputable house situated near the railroad and were committed for the purposes of robbery. It is said that a former inmate of the house has given the sheriff information on which the present investigation is based.

A Growsome Find.

Cincinnati, May 6.—Head downward in a tub of water in the Zoological Gardens, the dead body of a baby, about three weeks old, was found Thursday afternoon. The affair is shrouded in mystery. The mother, who is supposed to have killed the little one, has so cleverly covered all traces to her identity that the police are wholly at sea. She is described as being between 24 and 25 years old, and fairly well dressed in black. She was first seen about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, with a baby on her arm. She wandered about looking at the animals, and about noon went to the restaurant and had something to eat. The woman was seen later in a secluded part of the garden.

Bryan and Hearst.

Lincoln, Neb., May 6.—W. J. Bryan made the following response when asked yesterday to confirm the dispatch from Des Moines, Iowa, in which he is reported as saying his choice for the presidency is W. R. Hearst: "The report is not true. I have never expressed a choice for anyone." Mr. Bryan's denial is in line with statements made by his friends, that he does not want Hearst nominated for President and does not think he can be, and further goes to emphasize the prediction that, if he and his supporters control the Nebraska democratic State convention an unopposed delegation will be sent to St. Louis.

Parker's Prospect in Alabama.

Mobile, Ala., May 6.—Friends of Judge Parker in this part of the State claim that the New Yorker's chances of winning the Alabama delegation to the national convention are growing. Madison county's delegation, being one of the few delegations instructed, will push the fight for Parker and insist that the State delegation be instructed to vote for him. The claim is made that some shrewd politicians are behind the Hearst movement and an attempt may be made to capture the delegation for that candidate unless positive instructions for Parker are given by the State convention.

Charged With Cruelty.

Canton, Ohio, May 6.—Extreme cruelty and habitual drunkenness are the grounds stated in a petition for divorce filed yesterday by the wife of Charles S. Fraser of this city, Vice President of the National Humane Society and secretary and superintendent of the local humane society. Mr. Fraser has achieved a national prominence in the work of the humane society and has been made conspicuous locally by his interest in the welfare of mistreated animals and his energy in placing foundlings.

Big Storage Warehouse Burned.

Camden, N. J., May 6.—The five-story building of the Camden Storage Warehouse Company, on Cooper street, is a ruin from fire which broke out about 5:30 this morning. The firemen were promptly on the scene, and confined the flames to the building where owing to the varied inflammable contents, they were slowly extinguished. The loss is variously estimated at from $200,000 to $250,000, partly insured.

New York Stock Market.

New York, May 6, 11 a. m.—The stock market was extremely dull in the first hour, with narrow fluctuations that were without important significance. Uncertainty in final effect of gold exports and the floating of the Japanese loan were the only influences to which could be credited the almost complete stagnation of speculation.

Sale of a Ferry.

Mr. J. H. Maddy, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, who has been in New York almost continuously since January 1 in the interest of the company in the selling of the Staten Island ferry line to the city of New York, returned to Baltimore last evening, the details of the deal being almost completed. It is expected that the property will be formally transferred in a few days.

The property was part of the plan of the road to enter New York some years ago, when the Baltimore and Ohio was shut out of that city by the Pennsylvania when the latter road, executing the brilliant coup on Mr. Robert Garrett, the then president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, acquired the then Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad when it was almost in the grasp of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Cadets in Disgrace.

Stripes and monograms having been cut from their uniforms in the presence of the whole corps, two cadets were expelled from the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, at Blacksburg. The cadets took the matter into their own hands and did not consult the head of the Institute. The two young men were accused of having become intoxicated and while in that condition insulted young ladies. The charges were investigated by the cadet corps and pronounced true. Committees from each class notified the offenders that they must leave college. They were then escorted to the parade ground, where the cadets were assembled and solemnly despoiled of their military decorations. A half hour later they were on their way to the depot, with their trunks.

War on Liquor Dealers.

A summer campaign has been planned by the Anti-Saloon League. Upward of 50 counties of the State will be reached by the league's speakers, and over 200 rallies and picnics will be held in the various magisterial districts of the counties referred to. A bureau of speakers has been organized, and in this organization there are nearly 100 of the choicest men of the State—preachers, lawyers, educators, etc. Almost every denomination and shade of political opinion is represented in this array of workers.

Fire which started in the Locust Gap slope near Shamokin, Pa., last night, is still burning fiercely. Three men who were in the mine at the time are entombed and it is not known whether they are living or dead. A rescuing party is sinking an opening to learn the fate of the entombed miners.

Daniel J. Sully, the former "Cotton King," testified before Special Examiner Alexander, in New York today, regarding the conduct of the business of D. J. Sully & Co. In Dover, Del., today, in the Powell trial the defence scored another point when Mrs. Bessie Kenney was permitted to testify that Elsie Albin had told her she would kill Mrs. Powell. The girl added that she would kill the whole Powell family to gain her end, which was to kill Mrs. Powell. Mrs. Powell was recalled and denied that she made threats about the girl to James H. Dickerson, and witnesses testified that the community would not believe Dickerson on his oath. Following the sensational testimony that the Albin girl had attempted to poison Mrs. Powell and had made threats, also, that Detective Ralledge had colored Mrs. Powell's confession, it is expected that manslaughter will be the highest verdict brought in by the jury.

Mrs. William Morris Cruikshank, daughter-in-law of C. M. Cruikshank, head of a large real estate firm of that name in New York, committed suicide this morning by firing a bullet through her heart. The letter was addressed to "Mrs. George M. Adams, North Dana, Mass." Its contents were not revealed by the coroner. Wm. Morris Cruikshank, husband of the dead woman, and who is a member of the firm of which his father is the head, refused to make any statement regarding the case.
